Doeren Mayhew's credentialed professionals closely analyze your financial evidence and utilize technical applications to better identify, present, and support findings.

specialized expertise

Doeren Mayhew provides you with the critical information needed to support your business and litigation consulting goals. Our professionals recognize that litigation support services, business valuations, and forensic accounting require sophisticated procedures and extensive experience. As such, we combine end-to-end capabilities with unrivaled qualifications to accurately identify, present, and support findings.

Our professionals possess highly specialized accounting, auditing, and investigative skills. We look beyond the numbers to reconstruct financial information that is often hidden to identify data that can be used in all facets of litigation and non-litigation matters.

business valuations

Valuations can be a critical component of litigation support and non-litigation engagements alike. Understanding the value of your business allows professionals to make more informed and logical strategic decisions.

Our certified business valuation professionals utilize modern valuation practices to work with you in a highly consultative manner – collaborating with forensic accountants, litigation support staff, and tax professionals to ensure appropriate analysis of financial and non-financial data.

- Buy/sell agreements
- Shareholder disputes and minority oppression claims
- Marital dissolution
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Estate and gift planning

Accuracy and credibility delivered.

Whether you're facing challenges in the boardroom or the courtroom, Doeren Mayhew has the experience and credentials to deliver timely, accurate conclusions and opinions.

forensic accounting

Our forensic accountants find financial evidence that otherwise may be impossible to decipher. Once recovered, we work with you to create an organized approach for how to best use such data.

To simplify the process, we design methods to effectively communicate the nature of existing evidence to law enforcement officials, courts, clients, and other relevant parties. We create reports, exhibits, and other visual and audio aids that are necessary and help support formal and informal investigations in complex commercial litigation, economic loss, fraud, and forensic matters, including:

- Employee embezzlement
- Identification and search for fictitious vendors
- Financial record reconstruction
- Risk assessment
- Loss recovery
- Economic loss calculations
- Breach of contract claims
- Evidence gathering
- Due diligence and compliance studies
- Document findings
- Internal control assessment

expert witness testimony

Our professionals not only have the evidence-based information to support your goals, we understand how to best present the data. Doeren Mayhew professionals are trusted throughout the legal community as reliable witnesses who are fastidiously prepared and organized.

Most importantly, as your litigation support team, we bring credibility to your case. That's because our work begins long before trial starts. We analyze and evaluate not only the evidence we have, but opposing expert reports and testimony. Our professionals are well prepared for direct and cross examination.

The credibility, experience, preparedness, and trust that our expert witness professionals display provide the confidence you need in your case and our team.

- Testimony at deposition, trial, and arbitration
- Preparation for federal, circuit, and district courts
- Cross examination of opposing experts
- Technical litigation support
